

Credit & Management Systems, Inc. announces new CCM-Online Service

Lake Bluff, IL June 15, 2009

To coincide with the NACM's 113th Credit Congress and Exposition in Orlando, FL, Credit & Management Systems, Inc. (CMS), a leading provider of credit and collection software and SaaS solutions for business-to-business relationships, is announcing its newest web-based service for the credit community called CCM-Online. Designed and priced specifically for small to mid-sized businesses, CCM-Online is a secure CMS hosted service for complete B2B credit and collection functionality. CCM-Online offers the same broad range of capabilities as enterprise level systems, but at a fraction of the cost. CCM-Online provides a complete credit management suite including new credit application decisioning, account and portfolio scoring and analysis, third-party agency connectivity, financial risk analysis and reporting, and prioritized collection workflow and tracking. Data from end user A/R systems can be easily imported into CCM-Online and aggregated with customer financial information and data from third party agencies. "Credit professionals in small and mid-tier companies typically rely on either manual processes or an agency report to make decisions", said John Sargent, President and CEO of Credit & Management Systems, Inc. "Now with our CCM-Online service, those credit professionals have robust, efficient tools at their fingertips for rapid workflow driven account analysis and decision support, thus improving productivity."

CCM-Online is easy to use and configure, and CMS will provide web-based training and assistance as desired.

CCM-Online will be released and available in late third quarter of 2009.
